

What is your mouth
trying to tell you?

Have you had unexplained bleeding in the mouth?
How about a random ache in the teeth or mouth?
How about your jaw is sore or tired in the morning or other times during the day? Have you noticed your teeth wearing or change in their appearance? These are signs of underlining problems that you may chalk up to that it is the way it is, but these are all signs of problems that your body is trying to tell you that something is wrong.

Worn and chipped teeth

What your mouth maybe trying to tell you

- ❖ Bleeding gums can be a sign of some form of gum disease
- ❖ A random tooth ache can be a sign of a crack in a tooth or you can be grinding or clenching your teeth which is putting too much stress on your teeth.
- ❖ A sore jaw or loss of range in opening is a sign that you are clenching or grinding at night which can lead to wearing down or breaking teeth.
- ❖ If you notice that your teeth are wearing down or changing in appearance, this is a sign that your bite is off.
